Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

2. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the term "means" appears in the body of the text. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

- a. The following claims lack proper antecedent basis.

- i. "In claim 1 , line 14, and claim 4, line 14, "it" . This limitation should be positively recited.
 - ii. In claim 7, lines 5&6, "its" and "it". This limitation should be positively recited.

- b. The following claims are vague, indefinite, awkwardly, and/or confunsingly worded.

Art Unit: 3723

- iii. In claim 1, line 8, "such". This is idiomatic English and awkward as well.
 - iv. In claim 1, line 17, "same". The limitation should positively be recited so it is clear what element is be referred to.
 - v. In claim 2, line 2. "preferably". This limitation is either being claimed or not.
 - vi. In claim 4, line 15 and claim 10, line 4, "more particularly". This awkwardly worded and limitations should be claimed without such narrative language.
 - vii. In claims 8, line 16 and claim 10, line 5, "and/or". Limitations cannot be claimed in both the alternative and inclusively. This is confusing.
4. Regarding claims 7 and 9, the phrase "or the like and/or bell-like" renders the claim(s) indefinite because the claim(s) include(s) elements not actually disclosed (those encompassed by "or the like"), thereby rendering the scope of the claim(s) unascertainable. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. ClaimS 1-10 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.
6. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Read over Us 2004/01133346a1 and 2003/0071407a1 because the application recites a clamp element moving through a central guide region having an annular groove to receive a sealing ring which recite more and different structure than the steel ball of the prior which would not require a sealing ring nor annular groove because the structure would not require it.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Zika et al, Kaakami et al, and Yonezawa disclose a device.
